MAS in Canarsie

By Jibreel Jalloh

This August, Canarsie is proving what we've always known — our neighborhood is rich with culture, flavor and community pride. Thanks to Visit Canarsie, we have a summer series that puts our community front and center with "MAS in Canarsie."

For those unfamiliar, mas — short for "masquerade" — is a vibrant Caribbean tradition tied to Carnival, where participants wear elaborate costumes, dance to infectious rhythms, and celebrate freedom, heritage and unity. Here in Canarsie, MAS in Canarsie is more than an event series — it's a living display of our neighborhood's cultural heartbeat and a reminder that local businesses are often the stage and the soul of our celebrations.

TriniJam BK is a perfect example. In just five years, owners Calvin and Latoya have built more than a restaurant — they've built a gathering place where people connect over the flavors of Trinidad and Jamaica. But like many small business owners in the outer boroughs, TriniJam has faced steep challenges. Since Local Law 18 restricted short-term rentals, Canarsie has seen fewer visitors, with TriniJam reporting up to a 70% drop in foot traffic. Rising costs, regulatory pressures and shifting consumer habits are squeezing margins for neighborhood shops across the city.

Why should we care? Because small businesses do far more than sell goods or services. They create jobs for local residents, keep money circulating in our economy, sponsor youth teams, donate to community causes and help maintain the character that makes our neighborhood unique. When a small business closes, we don't just lose a storefront — we lose a place where stories are shared, friendships are made and community is built.

Events like MAS in Canarsie are part of the solution. They draw people in, showcase the talent and dedication of our entrepreneurs and remind us that we have something worth protecting. Visit Canarsie has stepped up to organize this series, making it easier for us to do our part: show up, shop local and spread the word.

So, this August, let's not just enjoy the music, the food and the energy. Let's make a conscious choice to invest in our neighbors. Every plate you buy, every drink you sip, every gift you pick up from a local vendor is a vote for a stronger Canarsie. Our businesses have always been there for us — now it's our turn to be there for them.

Because when we support our local businesses, we're not just keeping doors open — we're keeping the heart of Canarsie alive.

Looking for Information on an Old Canarsie Building

Recently, historian Janice LaScala sent the Canarsie Historical Society a photo of a glass paperweight that contained a picture of a building which she believes was located in Canarsie. The paperweight belonged to her grandfather who was a Canarsie resident, and she is trying to determine the location of the building.

Canarsie Historical Society President Ira Kluger believes that it probably is Lehman's Hotel "given the width and general structure of the building."

Kluger said that Lehman's Hotel eventually became Heinrich's Tavern and finally the Knights of Columbus building at 135 Conklin Avenue, at the corner of East 95th Street.

"At the time that the hotel was built, East 95th Street did not exist, and the building was considerably wider than we knew it to be," Kluger explained. "When East 95th Street was eventually opened, a portion of the building had to be demolished."

If anyone has information on the building, please contact us by email at canarsiec@aol.com, drop us a note at 1142 East 92nd Street, Brooklyn, NY 11236 or give us a call at 718-257-0600. Any information at all would be appreciated.

Bodega Worker Stabbed to Death Following Dispute With Customer

By Lloyd Mitchell and Linda Steinmuller

An employee at the NY Deli & Mini Market in East New York was fatally stabbed on Friday, August 1st.

Officers from the 75th Precinct responded to the bodega located at 684 Hegeman Avenue, off of Van Siclen Avenue, around 3:05 p.m. where they found Diego Sandoval Nava, 33, inside the store, with multiple stab wounds to his torso, according to police.

A police source said the incident may have started as a dispute over a cigarette, which later escalated when the suspect returned to the bodega and stabbed the employee. The suspect fled the scene.

The victim, who lived above the deli, was taken to Brookdale Hospital by EMS in critical condition. He was later pronounced dead by hospital staff, police said.

No arrests have been made, and an investigation is ongoing.

Anyone with information regarding this stabbing is asked to call the NYPD's Crime Stoppers Hotline at 800-577-TIPS (8477) or for Spanish, 888-57-PISTA (74782). The public can also submit their tips by logging onto the Crime Stoppers Website at crimestoppers.nypdonline.org/ or on X @NYPDTips. All calls are strictly confidential.

Georgetown

Faster Than a Sneaker Drop: SUV Crashes Into SNIPES Store

By Robert Pearl

In a scene more dramatic than a Black Friday sale, and faster than the popular Nike Air Force 1 can land, a red SUV barreled through the glass storefront of SNIPES at the Georgetown Shopping Center on Ralph Avenue around 11 a.m. on Friday, August 1st — while having just opened its doors. Remarkably, there were no customers yet in the store, and most of the workers were still in the back of the store, getting ready for the day.

Witnesses say it all happened in the blink of an eye. "It was like she hit the gas thinking she was in reverse," one bystander said, still wide-eyed from the crash. The SUV smashed through the entrance, knocking the door down entirely and leaving a trail of shattered glass and confusion.

Fortunately, no one inside the store was injured, though one employee was standing near the entrance just moments before impact. "Scared as hell, but grateful," the manager told the Canarsie Courier, as he worked alongside staff to coordinate repairs and secure the merchandise.

Emergency crews responded swiftly. They quickly cut out the door frame and removed most of the glass. The driver, believed to have suffered a medical episode, was seen talking after the crash. SNIPES employees helped her from the vehicle, and she was later taken by ambulance to Mount Sinai Brooklyn for observation. Her husband and another family member arrived at the scene shortly after to retrieve personal belongings. "She's got some neck and shoulder pain," her husband said. "But the car's in worse shape than she is."

Joe, a longtime local and member of the Kings Plaza-Canarsie Kiwanis Club, stood nearby, still shaking his head. "I've lived here 40 years and never seen anything like this. Just glad no one was hurt."

FDNY confirmed one person was taken to the hospital, and video footage on Citizen app captured the chaos in real time. While the airbags didn't deploy, and the full details remain under investigation, all signs point to an unfortunate accident — one that could've ended much worse.

For now, SNIPES will be boarded up and repaired, but the message from the community is clear: drive carefully, count your blessings and always check your gear shift — especially before your morning sneaker run.

Sixty-Ninth Precinct Clergy Council Denounces Midtown Massacre

By Brenda Cox

In the aftermath of the mass shooting that claimed the lives of NYPD Officer Didaral Islam and three civilians inside a New York City office building on July 28th, the 69th Precinct Clergy Council convened at the 69th Precinct, located at 9720 Foster Avenue, on July 30th, in a show of support and to offer special prayers for the officers at their 7 a.m. Roll Call.

Reverend Cecil Moonsam, president of the 69th Precinct Clergy Council and also an auxiliary lieutenant, stated to the Canarsie Courier, "We are deeply saddened by the tragic loss of one of our police officers and the others whose lives were senselessly taken." Moonsam, a staunch anti-gun violence advocate added, "We must pray and encourage our officers at this difficult time. We must stand up against every evil and wicked activity that would cause harm and danger to our families and our communities."

Since its inception over a decade ago, the 69th Precinct Clergy Council has addressed issues of gun violence in the community by holding monthly prayer vigils at hot spots and providing counselling and other support for families impacted by gun violence.

Islam was assigned to the 47th Precinct in the Bronx and was on a security detail at 345 Park Avenue where the massacre unfolded. He was also a beloved member of the Bangladeshi American Police Association (BAPA), who mourned his loss openly. "During this unimaginably painful time, we stand together in prayer for his family and loved ones," BAPA shared in a statement. "We will forever honor his legacy and remember his selfless service."

Canarsie resident Aland Etienne, a security officer, was also slain, along with Wesley LePatner, an investment firm executive, and Julia Hyman, a Rudin staffer. The lone gunman squeezed off 47 rounds from an M4 rifle, which also severely wounded a fifth victim who is hospitalized in critical but stable condition. The shooter died from a self-inflicted wound to his torso, from one of those shots.

Rev. Cecil Moonsam (right) and Clergy Council members meet and pray with 69th Precinct officers before Roll Call.

Moonsam called on every pastor, chaplain and leadership of every church, temple, mosque and synagogue to stand together and denounce such violent acts.

Marine Park

Laugh Out Loud with Looney Louie

By Brian Moreno

Despite gray and cloudy overcast skies, Playground 278, at Fillmore Avenue and Madison Place, was filled with laughter and smiles as families gathered in Marine Park to see Looney Louie's hysterical performance on Sunday, July 27th.

Organized by the Marine Park Alliance (MPA), "Summertime Sillies" was the last event of the MPA's Just For Kids summer series and what better way to end the series with a professional children's entertainer doing what he does best -- making families laugh with his magic tricks, illusions, juggling and, in his own words, "general looniness."

Louie started his show with a juggling act, showing off his impressive performance, followed by a disappearing and reappearing cloth. Next up, Louie showed the audience how a trick can turn an image of a sad, colorless clown into a joyful, colorful one. Louie also did the classic magic milk jug and newspaper cone trick, in which he poured milk into the cone, but it remained totally dry.

Families loved it.

"It's always a fabulous event. The kids are always great, and the crowds are always funny and very interactive," Louie said. "I'm lucky because there's nothing more fun than getting a group of kids and their families together and having them laugh and be silly and just have a good time."

Children are always eager to be part of Louie's acts, so much so that they often cannot sit still and are jumping with joy to participate, which is why Louie does his best to include them.

"I brought my kids, who are 5 and 3 with me, and they absolutely loved Louie," Johanna Perez said.

"They were laughing the whole time and when they got called up, they were engaged the entire time with him. His jokes were silly, and he kept them entertained."

Although this was the last event of the summer series, the MPA is getting ready for the latter half of the year with many more programs.

"We had a great Just For Kids series this summer with an awesome turnout, large engagement from the kids, a lot of big smiles and laughter, and that's exactly what we're looking for," MPA Executive Director Scott Middleton said. "We're happy to welcome Looney Louie back to the park. It's an annual tradition, and we're looking forward to having him back again in the future. We'll be releasing our fall calendar soon with a whole host of other great events for the whole family."

Playground 278 is packed with kids enjoying the comedic show of Looney Louie.

Siblings Shea and Kevin get into the act of juggling.

Hannah and Sage help Looney Louie with this classic magical trick.

Barbados Festival Brings Vibrant Celebration to Canarsie

By Bristol Hendrix

The heart of Barbadian culture beat strong in Canarsie on Saturday, July 12th, as the Friends of Barbados DLP Association, Inc. successfully hosted its annual Barbados Festival Day.

The much-anticipated event, a cherished tradition in the Brooklyn community, took place from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the Canarsie Cricket Grounds at Monroe Cohen Park, located at East 108th Street and Seaview Avenue.

Thousands of Canarsie residents and visitors flocked to the park, immersing themselves in a day filled with Barbadian heritage and festivities. With free admission, the event was a joyful celebration for all who attended.

The day featured many activities that brought smiles to young and old. Traditional Bajan games were a major hit, with lively competitions in egg and spoon, three-legged race, sack race, sprint and relay races, cricket, kite flying, volleyball and tug-of-war. Children also enjoyed creative face painting stations.

As expected, the food was a highlight, with vendors serving a mouth-watering mix of Barbadian dishes and drinks. Attendees savored classic options such as Cou-Cou, Flying Fish, Rice and Peas, Pudding and Souse, Fish Cakes, BBQ Pigtails, Conkies, Coconut Bread, Pone, Sugar Cakes, Lemonade, Ginger Beer, Coconut Water, Mauby and Sorrel. The family-friendly atmosphere continued with the park's policy against alcoholic beverages.

The air was filled with infectious rhythms and melodies thanks to an impressive lineup of DJs including Technic Music Mix, DJ Likkle D, DJ Cutterman, Double A, Junior Blaze and DJ Tragic. Live performances by C Diddy, Linskee, General D and Face kept the energy high, ensuring a lively experience for everyone present.

The Friends of Barbados expressed their gratitude for the overwhelming community support that made this year's Barbados Festival Day a success. The annual celebration continues to reflect the rich cultural tapestry of Canarsie, fostering community spirit and sharing the vibrant essence of Barbados with all.

Councilwoman Narcisse Visits Lady Olive's Salon on Small Business Tour

By Brenda Cox

On July 17th, Councilwoman Mercedes Narcisse made a stop at Lady Olive's Trendy Beauty Salon, located at 1355 Rockaway Parkway, as part of her ongoing Meet Me @ Tour of local small businesses. The purpose of the visit was to connect with local merchants and members of the community and offer needed support.

She told the small gathering that as a former small business owner, she understands many of the challenges small businesses face and remains committed to helping them thrive. "Small businesses are the backbone of our community," Narcisse stated. "I'll keep showing up and speaking up for the people who keep our neighborhoods running."

The councilwoman was joined by Norine Medas, president of Canarsie Merchants Association, who also expressed her staunch support for small businesses and the community. A few of "Lady Olive's" clients and other Canarsie residents were also present to wish her well and to have an audience with their councilwoman.

A client dropped in to congratulate "Lady Olive" and hear from Councilwoman Mercedes Narcisse.

Remembering Wrestling Superstar Hulk Hogan

Hulk Hogan (August 11, 1953-July 24, 2025) was a legend in his time, an iconic wrestler, actor and media personality. Born Terry Gene Bollea, he was a World Champion Wrestler, winning the WWE Championship six times and the WCW World Heavyweight Championship six times. He was also a member of the WWE Hall of Fame.

Hulk Hogan started wrestling at the age of 16. He went on to become a professional wrestler in 1977 and become a household name when he signed a contract with the WWE in 1983. His wrestling match with Andre the Giant became a momentous event in his career.

After remaining a WWE superstar for many years, he pursued an acting career. He was one of the great stars in Rocky III, playing "Thunderlips," and scoring the iconic movie scene, where he throws Rocky (Sylvester Stallone) out of the ring.

Hulk Hogan appeared in many movies and television shows. He also starred in his own family reality show, Hogan Knows Best, as well as his own Saturday morning cartoon, Hulk Hogan's Rock 'n' Roll Wrestling.

Canarsie resident and Celebrity Spotlight host Jimmy Diele said that Hulk Hogan was always his favorite wrestler. "It was an honor to meet him in Las Vegas a few years back," he told the Canarsie Courier.

"They say you should never meet your heroes -- definitely not the case with Hulk Hogan. As rough and tough as he looked, he was the most gracious and kind guy to meet," Diele said. "I was always a fan of Hulkamania and now realize why he had so many loyal fans."

He had a heart just as big as he was and was known for giving to many local charities and helping out when he could. Hulk Hogan paved the way for many of the wrestling superstars today. He will remain as one of the most iconic wrestling figures to ever come along. We will miss the Hulk. Hulk Hogan was 71.

The Canarsie Courier's freelance reporter, Melissa Clark, also had the opportunity to meet the superstar. "During my time at A Elegant Limousine Service, I had the opportunity to talk with the Hulk on numerous occasions. He was kind, humble and sweet. When I met him, he couldn't have been nicer," Clark said.

For those who think newspapers are going the way of the dinosaur, it's simply not true -- student newspaper clubs are alive and well in many local schools.

P.S. 236 Mill Basin School is an elementary school located at 6302 Avenue U that has its own club comprised of 4th- and 5th-grade reporters. The P.S. 236 Newspaper Club, which has 12 members, meets on Fridays from November to May at the school's Library/Media Center. They write about everything from school events and specialty classes to articles featuring school staff members, and it is all published on their online newspaper, The P.S. 236 Times.

On Thursday, June 12th, the school's newspaper club took a field trip to the Canarsie Courier office, at 1142 East 92nd Street. The trip was organized by Teacher and Newspaper Club Editor Suzy Ojalvo, accompanied by one parent, Mr. Kretkovskiy, whose son is a young journalist.

These eager and inquisitive young reporters came prepared, like any good journalist, armed with a slew of well-thought-out, intelligent questions. They also shared their own journeys, explaining why they love writing and journalism.

Students really enjoyed seeing how an old-fashioned newspaper like the 104-year-old Canarsie Courier operates. One of the things they especially enjoyed was looking at our leather-bound, print archives, which date back to the 1950s.

Ojalvo told the Canarsie Courier that the trip was a big success, and the experience was meaningful and memorable for the students.

P.S. 236 journalism students pose outside the Canarsie Courier office.

Mas in Canarsie – A Celebration of Culture, Community and Connection

By Calvin Sennon,
Co-Creator of Taste of Canarsie,
Celebrate Canarsie and Mas in Canarsie

Growing up in Canarsie, I've always believed this neighborhood was more than just a place on the map — it's a living, breathing community full of resilience, creativity and culture. That belief led to the creation of Taste of Canarsie and Celebrate Canarsie — events built from the ground up to bring people together through food, music and unity. Now, through Mas in Canarsie, we've reached a new milestone in that journey.

In partnership with Visit Canarsie and TriniJam BK, Mas in Canarsie is more than just a weekend street festival. It's an encapsulation of everything we've been working toward — a vibrant, open-air celebration of our community's Caribbean roots, artistic talent and entrepreneurial spirit. Taking place as part of NYC Open Streets, every Saturday and Sunday in August along East 95th Street, Mas in Canarsie offers a safe space where families can enjoy live music, cultural arts, local food and a renewed sense of belonging.

What moves me most is the overwhelming support from the Canarsie community. Each week, I witness neighbors, elders, youth and small businesses show up — not just to attend, but to invest in the future of our neighborhood. As someone who grew up here — and is now raising a family here alongside my partner, Latoya, who also calls Canarsie home — it fills me with pride to help build something rooted in love, culture and purpose.

We created this space to highlight the beauty of Canarsie that's too often overlooked. From steelpan rhythms to handmade crafts, from doubles to dance-hall, every element of Mas in Canarsie tells a story — a story of home, heritage and hope.

Canarsie is alive with talent, tradition and untapped potential. And together, we're not just celebrating it — we're elevating it.

Kings Plaza-Canarsie Kiwanis Welcomes NY Governor Soderholm with Unity and Purpose

By Bristol Hendrix

On June 17th, the Kings Plaza-Canarsie Kiwanis Club hosted an enthusiastic dinner at Nick's Lobster House in Mill Basin to welcome New York District Kiwanis Governor Gordon Soderholm and First Lady Marie Soderholm. The event brought together every Brooklyn Kiwanis chapter in a strong demonstration of community and service.

Governor Soderholm, who started in Key Club in 1971, shared his dedication to growing Kiwanis membership and expanding both youth and adult service programs. Since he took office, he has chartered five new clubs and revitalized many others across the state.

First Lady Soderholm spoke about her cause, Autism Acceptance, which was inspired by her granddaughter. She urged for empathy and addressed public misconceptions about people on the spectrum. "Everyone is different. Everyone deserves dignity," she said.

Marty Valk energized the crowd with his vision for the future. Valk is the future superintendent after Carol Ingran takes office later this year. He called for deeper engagement with young professionals and partnerships with local Chambers of Commerce to attract new members.

Both Gordon and Marie, who are lifelong educators, continue to travel the state, spreading a message of inclusion and leadership. Their visit made a significant impact on Canarsie and the Brooklyn Kiwanis community.

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Marine Park

Children Celebrated Christmas in July!

By Kari Lleras

The joy in children's eyes was magical as they scanned neatly displayed toys, creating a Christmas-time feeling, even though the temperature was in the 90s at the Children's Concert: Christmas in July, held on July 30th, the fifth concert in a series of Marine Park summer concerts sponsored by Assemblywoman Jaime Williams.

Attendees didn't gather in their normal quiet, weekly concert fashion. The children's faces broke out in grins and called loudly across the park the moment they recognized their friends. They ran to each other to share an excited greeting. It was a packed lawn with a lot of smiling and happy people.

Children ran from table to table enjoying everything that the evening had to offer while DJ Scott Yahney spun Christmas music and tunes that had all the kids dancing. There was also a book table, where every child received a book, and staff from the Brooklyn Public Library signed people up for library cards and gave away summer tote bags. Lines gathered at the East Flatbush Village, Inc.'s E.N.O.U.G.H. table where they handed out delicious ices from Ices Queens on Utica Avenue. One of the longest lines was for face painting – kids ran around cheerfully showing off their Spider-Man and sparkly butterfly faces.

Every child that attended got a raffle ticket, a chance to pick anything they wanted from the tables of toys. Williams, Kings Plaza and other sponsors helped to pack them with Power Rangers, footballs, Little People, My Little Pony, Baby Alive, paint sets and games.

During an intermission of "raffle pulling," dancers from Elizabeth's Dance Image on Avenue N performed for and delighted the festive crowd.

Merry Christmas to All and to All a Good Night!

These amazing concerts are free and open to the public. Williams along with sponsors Kings Plaza, Marine Park Alliance, Vincent R. Cervone and Associates, Marine Park Hardware and others in partnership with NYC Parks, Millennium Development and the Marine Park Community Association make these popular summer concerts possible.

The concerts are held in Marine Park every Wednesday night (with a rain date of Thursday) at 6:30 p.m. on the lawn near the bocce court. Bring your friends, family, a chair, blanket and a camera to record the memories! For more information, call 718-252-2124.
